KhetiBuddy's mission is to build a unified agtech software platform that tracks where the food comes from, how it was grown, enables optimizing farming practices and provides that transparency to everyone who consumes it.

Our endeavor is to enable agribusiness with farmers or home growers to digitize data as well as remotely guide or assist in farming to optimize production, quality and costs per unit area for agri produce.

We are on a mission to bridge farming with the updated scientific expertise to grow quality food by leveraging technology and our success can be measured in our ability to successfully improve the farming habits be it farmers or home growers.

MyySports promises to democratise sports globally by gamifying the phygital experience using innovative creator tools for mass engagement.

We are building incredibly-first-to-market-technology play which will democratise Sports. We believe, MyySports will expand the market and have a "net new market creation" effect.

First: "Broadening" of the market through continuing transformation of cricket from a player dominated economy to a multi-stakeholder economy which includes leagues, owners, key infrastructure participants, key team management contributors and key match components.

Second: "Deepening" of the market by making the model more affordable, accessible and available to everyone. Including the yet unmonetized portion of the economy of Tier 2 and Rural markets.

This model operating in the 600 M consumers X 300 M players TAM will create the massive democratization of opportunity leading to MORE volume and variety of jobs and wider distribution of wealth and opportunity instead of the traditional concentration.
